Terrace Playing Golf on Their New Grounds

The Terrace Golf Course is now under way. The first enthusiasts were out in their regalia and clubs last Sunday afternoon and although there was quite a chill wind blowing the boys puffed out their chests and exclaimed "Ah, but it was fine!" While only a few in town have the necessary tools for golf as yet, there are quite a number making out their order forms and a number of the young gaffers are on a hunt for information as to just what the caddy is supposed to do and how he is to induce the players to realize that he is a receptive creature after packing a sack of iron and wood all afternoon.

A public meeting called by the Golf Committee of the Board of Trade was held in the Terrace Theatre on Tuesday, April 24th, J. K. Gordon was in the chair. Others present were Geo. Dover, W. H. Burnett, A. H. Barker, A. Attree, S. Kirkaldy, F. Bishop, R. W. Riley, E. T. Kenney, S. Brooks, T. Marsh, G. Holmwood, H. Halliwell, Rev. W. Allen and Mrs. Dover, and R. Corlett.

H. Halliwell acted as secretary. Mr. Barker presented the committee's report stating that many sites had been considered for a course, and had come to the conclusion the Little pre-emption was the most satisfactory, but the first terms were not considered practicable. New terms have since been arranged with Mr. Little, they being for a term of twenty years with a rental of $100 per year for the first ten years, and $200 per year for the second ten, and a complimentary ticket. Mr. Little felt sure that no one else would clear and fence between 35 and 40 acres and rent it for any such sum. The increase in the rent for the second ten years was to be provided for the anticipated enhanced value of the land, and to provide for the increased taxes. The club has the privilege to give up the lease at any time, or they could purchase the land for $8,000 and interest on the portion unpaid. While the committee did not recommend the acceptance of the offer they expressed the belief that a more attractive offer could not be secured anywhere.

The proposed course is close to town and thus many would join who would not if the grounds were far out, and as it was along the railway it would do a lot to advertise itself. A club house at present is not required, and the members could start playing at once. The only disadvantage was it could not be extended to an 18 hole course.

The committee recommended that the meeting decide upon the membership fee and with the first money received pay the first year's rental. A letter from C. V. Eritt of Prince Rupert suggested that if 100 members could be enrolled the C. N. R. would then probably consider putting on a gas-electric car.

E. T. Kenney spoke favorably to organizing a golf club and accepting the offer of Mr. Little, expressing his belief that it was a most generous offer and one that could not be equalled. He recommended entering to the wishes of the people of Prince Rupert where a great portion of their support was to come from. Many others also spoke in favor of the movement and finally the motion of Mr. Halliwell and Mr. Attree was decided to appoint a committee of seven, five to be appointed at this meeting and two later, to carry on. The following were nominated: Messrs. Barker, Burnett, E. T. Kenney, Kirkaldy and Dover. After the general meeting the special committee had its first session.

START NEW SAW MILL

Mr. Pohle of Terrace arrived at Caribby on Monday night to spend a day or two. He has decided to erect his saw mill which was at Caribby, at a point near Deep Creek on the Kalum road and start cutting ties and general lumber. Mr. Pohle is a good saw mill man and his mill will be one more industry for Terrace and another pay roll.

Changes Made In the Mohawk Management

At a meeting of the directors of the Mohawk Mining Co. held recently in Vancouver Ed. G. Brown presented his resignation as president and general manager. The directors accepted the resignation and, until the affairs of the company in Vancouver are ready for re-organization, W. S. Harris and Jock Robertson will carry on the business end. Al. Harris who was present at the meeting returned to New Hazelton Wednesday evening last. He says that the work of mining and development of the Mohawk will continue, as before, any re-organization of the business end will not effect the mine.

The drift tunnel on the fifty foot level is being carried forward and is now in 140 feet with four feet of ore in the face of which sixteen inches are high grade and the rest is mill feed. The plans are to do a little more prospecting around the hanging wall on this level and also to continue the tunnel further ahead. At the same time a lot of ore is being taken out, sorted and jigged and two tons of high grade a day are being hauled to the depot at New Hazelton. This will shortly be increased to three tons per day. Mr. Harris says that this is very high grade. Only the best is being picked out. He also reports the jig is doing very fine work and working well.

Mining Notes

W. S. Harris is expected to arrive in New Hazelton next Wednesday night and he will get work started on the New Hazelton Gold and Cobalt property on Roucher de Boule Mountain. A new syndicate of Vancouver men have taken over this property and will develop it.

One of the first things to be done will be to extend the tram a considerable distance down the hill so the pack horses may get the ore more readily. From the end of the new tram it will be packed to Carnaby from which point it will be shipped.

Before the summer is far advanced this property will again be shipping ore, and at the same time extensive development work will be going on. In the past some very rich ore has been taken from this mine and while the shipments have not been large the grade of ore is very high.

The Sunrise property on Nine Mile Mountain recently taken over by Jones of Vancouver, a mining engineer, and his associates, has been stocked and as early in June, as possible operations will be undertaken on a large scale.

Free Picture Show Coming

The Forestry educational car will be in New Hazelton and Hazelton on Saturday, May 12th and the general public is invited to take advantage of the opportunity to visit the car and to see 5,000 feet of British Columbia films free. The picture show is entitled "The Red Destroyer" and it is well worth seeing. This car is make stops at all the points along the C. N. R. in connection with forest protection. It will be found most interesting. See fuller particulars on page 2.

Mrs. Smith of Prince Rupert is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Williams.

The Terrace Motors garage will be open for business on Monday. A first class mechanic will be in charge and all work is guaranteed. Three Star Gasoline sold at the Terrace Motors garage and at no advance in price.

More Ore From The Silver Cup Bigger Shoots

Since the report of operations last week at the Silver Cup mine the ore in the No. 3 drift has widened out to a full face of five feet, one half of it is high grade and the other half is of a good milling grade. In the No. 4 the work has been chiefly in straightening out the tunnel and thus shortening the ore haul. There will be a carload of high grade shipped out this week and next week the shipments will be made in sacks and a higher grade of ore will be sent out. A White truck arrived for the Duke Mining Co. this week and it has been put into commission.

Last week Douglas Lay visited the property and he expressed himself as most agreeably surprised at the wonderful change that had taken place in the mine since his last visit. He had been waiting to see what the No. 4 drift tunnel would produce, as he expected the future of the mine would be pretty well defined by that tunnel.

SILVER CUP IS BETTER YET

Engineer says that. Reports. Printed Thus far are Very Modest

After completing a fourteen days sampling test at the Silver Cup mine H. F. S. Woolverton, of General Exploration Co., Ltd., left Sunday for Terrace on mining business. He told the Herald that anything this paper had said about the Silver Cup was indeed very mild. The ore bodies and the grade of the ore is not only fully as good as has been reported but is better. He expressed the opinion that with ore in sight the Silver Cup is in a position to go on a shipping basis of between 30 and 40 tons of ore per day for a long period of years. He was more than satisfied with his sampling and he looks for the Cup to be a money making property. He gives a lot of credit to Mr. Dornberg for his courage to continue operations alone on the property and to bring it to such a high standard as a producer.

HOSPITAL DAY PLANS

Committee in Charge Has About Completed its Work—Good Time is Assured for Two Days

The annual celebration of Hospital Day will be observed in connection with the Hazelton Hospital on Saturday, May 12. The celebration will really start the evening before when a concert will be held in the Assembly Hall, Hazelton, from 8 to 9.30 to be followed by a dance. On the program there will be speeches by Rev. Mr. Gibson of Smithers and by Dr. Leonard Winch. There will also be several musical numbers. The dance is to start at 9.30 and there will be a charge made for it, but all other features are free.

On Saturday at the Hospital grounds there will be a ladies soft ball game starting at 2.30 to be followed by novelty races and other events. At 4.30 onward will be the reception at the hospital and nurses home and refreshments. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

Mrs. Hagan of Copper City was one of the week end visitors in Terrace.

William and Jane Donald returned Saturday after an extended visit to Vancouver and Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham, recently of Dorreen, have taken up a home on Park Hill. Mr. Graham is with the Forestry Department.

Consolidated Takes Options Pacific Mines

Hugh Harris arrived in New Hazelton on Wednesday night from Vancouver where he has been all winter. He is representing the Trail Consolidated, and on Thursday went down to Terrace in company with Russel Smith. Hugh has taken an option on Smith's properties "the M & M and M & K" on Legate Creek, opposite Pacific. These two groups are reported to be big showings, sufficient to interest the Consolidated. Work is to be done on them this summer to test them out.

JUDSON COMPANY OPERATING

C. O. Duncan, representing the Judson Pile, Pole & Timber Co. of Vancouver, returned Wednesday after a business trip south. He was accompanied to Terrace by Mr. Judson who has taken the Sundal residence and is to be here for some months looking after the interests of his company. To Terrace the coming of this new firm to take out cedar poles and piling is of the greatest importance. It is an industry worthy of every support. A good many men find employment in the pole camps and they make good wages. The Judso Co. will operate up towards the Kalum country for a start but expect to branch out so that they will soon be second to no firm taking out cedar. Most of their poles will be shipped to the coast.

The road to the Bulkley Valley is in pretty fair shape now. From New Hazelton to Twenty Mile the grader has been over it, but from there on the boys say it is not too bad. There have pretty good time.

To Ship Ore in Two Months From Diadem

Fred Lowensbery, formerly of Alaska, and now in charge of the development of the Diadem property near Usk, was in town the first of the week. He is associated with Mr. Woolverton in the property and they have plans for large scale development. There are three men on the work now, but for the past two or three weeks they have been employed chiefly in putting the road in shape and getting in the compressor and supplies. The property is a gold-copper with possibilities of being one of the big things of the north. Several engineers have examined it in the past and all were very favorably impressed, and several offers have been made for it since the present operators have taken it up.

Mr. Lowensbery informed the Herald that he was confident he had true fissure veins and his first work was going to be to prove the truth of his contention. While doing this he would also be taking out ore, and he hopes to start shipping ore to Granby smelter within two months. There are five parallel veins on the property and all can be tapped with a cross cut tunnel which will give them 600 feet of backs. It is only a mile and a half from the mine to the Hanall siding. A two ton Reo truck has been taken in to handle the supplies for the present from Usk to the mine and later to haul ore. Until a bridge or two has been put in shape it will be impossible to get the truck into full action.

been quite a number of cars over all the ready this spring and they are making boys say it is not too bad. There have pretty good time.

Opportunity is Knocking

Come on get in now while it is easy. Get five or ten acres at New Hazelton and make a home for yourself and family. It will be worth real money in a year if you improve it this year.

Keep a Cow and Poultry and Have Your Own Big Garden

Land adjoins New Hazelton and enjoys roads, railway, school and churches. It is close to the numerous mines now working. It is excellent land for gardens, fruit and poultry.

There are a number of Five and Ten acre blocks available at the old prices and on the old terms, but these cannot be guaranteed for long.

Lode mining has only been in progress about 25 years, and only about one-half of the Province has been prospected; 200,000 square miles of unexplored mineral bearing lands are open for prospecting.

The mining laws of this Province are more liberal and the fees lower than any other Province in the Dominion or any Colony in the British Empire.

Mineral locations are granted to discoverers for nominal fees. Absolute titles are obtained by developing such properties, security of which is guaranteed by crown grants.

Practically all British Columbia mineral properties on which development work has been done are described in one of the Annual Reports of the Minister of Mines. Those considering mining investments should refer to such reports. They are available without charge on application to the Department of Mines, Victoria, B.C. Reports covering each of the six Mineral Survey Districts are published separately, and are available on application. Reports of the Geological Survey of Canada, which Building, Vancouver, B.C., are recommended as valuable sources of information.

Haven't you found this to be true—that one batch of flour will give you certain results but that the next time you bought the same brand your results would be quite different. Now, the big flour companies employ chemists to see that their flours are kept to a constant standard. Drugs, like flours, may be thoroughly pure but of a variable standard. Think what this means in the effectiveness of your doctor's prescriptions.

Ormes buy their drugs only from manufacturers who guarantee that their products are not only 100 per cent. pure, but that their strength is as unvarying as the daily round of the sun.

Bridge Enemies Active

In spite of the fact that the minister of Public Works, Hon. Dr. Sutherland, has announced that the new bridge across the Bulkley River is to be built at the same sight as the present high level bridge at Hagwilget and in spite of the fact that the minister announced in the Legislature that the bridge was to be built at the present site there is still an agitation afoot to have it built elsewhere. On ly those that have some motive other than the welfare of the district, or the welfare of the local representative in mind would lend themselves in an attempt to injure the district now that it has started on an upgrade. Mining companies have started and are preparing to start on the strength of the statement of the government that the bridge would be across the Bulkley at Hagwilget. A bridge at any other site would cause those companies to cease operations and cease further preparations.

A change in the bridge site now would make it rather embarrassing for local member who has publicly declared himself in favour of the present site. He cannot go back on that, and we do not believe that he has any intention to, but it is very poor policy on the part of any of his professing henchmen to carry on an agitation that can only embarrass the member and set the whole district back many years. We do not believe that there are any responsible citizens of this district lending themselves to such petty moves, but we are satisfied that a few who hope to gain a few personal dollars by a change will continue to agitate. They have nothing at stake but their own bread and butter, and the butter has been scarce for a number of years now.

START THE DAY RIGHT

Digestive disturbances, the so-called attacks of indigestion, upset stomach biliousness, come second in the list of causes of sickness. They can, to a very large extent be prevented, and they would not occur as frequently if more attention were given to the proper use of food.

Meals should be regular, but not with the regularity that makes for monotony. The changed dinner hour on Sunday or on a holiday offers extra zest to the meal. Generally speaking, the meals should be taken at regular hours.

Any meal taken with one eye on the clock is almost better left uneaten. Food should be properly masticated and one should be in a quiet restful attitude of mind. To secure these aids to proper digestion, it is well worth the effort to rise a few minutes earlier each morning and start the day right with properly eaten breakfast.

Included in every breakfast menu should be fruit—fresh, such as oranges, or dried fruit stewed, like prunes; milk, either on cereal or in cocoa or by itself; also a cereal. Whether or not one requires eggs or bacon depends upon to type of work done, and also upon whether or not the noon meal is a light one. In every case the food should be properly masticated, and not gobbled or washed down with a drink.

Children who are sent to school without a proper breakfast are not receiving a fair chance. We not only feel better, but we are really more capable of physical and mental work if we start the day with a good wash and a comfortable eaten, suitable breakfast.

A. Achison, L. B. Cook, F. William, W. A. Elliott, A. L. Mullett, Stephen Young and Hugh Harris were among the visitors in Terrace last week.

Bruce Johnston of Victoria arrived last Saturday to make preparations to reopen the hotel at Lakelse Lake for the summer. Mrs. Johnston and son accompanied him.

Billie Downey is a patient in the Prince Rupert hospital.

Mrs. H. Smith of Prince Rupert was a guest a few days last week of her mother, Mrs. Jingle, who left with her two daughters for New York on Saturday to attend the bedside of another daughter who is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. King and family, formerly of Jasper, arrived last Thursday and have taken up their home on J. Gills farm on the bench.

P. M. Monckton returned Monday. Mrs. Monckton and family will motor up later from Vancouver.

Victor King who spent the past week with his parents, returned to Rupert on Tuesday.

Mrs. W. S. Anderson's many friends are pleased to know she is able to be around again.

Messrs. Stratton, McRae and Beecher of the Lakelse hatchery, were in for the boy scouts dance.

The boy scouts raised some $50 as a result of a dance in the G. W. V. A. hall on Friday last.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Skinner of Copper City were here last Friday.

Has Option on Michaud Bros. Thornhill Group

The first of the past week H. F. S. Woolverton, representing the General Exploration Co. of Vancouver, was in town and took an option on Michaud Bros. properties on Thornhill mountain the option to remain in force until the snow is sufficiently gone from the top of the hill to permit an examination. Mr. Woolverton is already connected with properties in the New Hazelton and the Usk districts and he informed the Herald that his firm meant business in connection with Thornhill. Michaud Bros. were in town on Monday in conference with Mr. Woolverton. The property is a gold silver copper with large showings and pretty fair gold values. It looks like the makings of a big tonnage property, and after the engineer makes his examination in about six weeks, it is the intention to get busy on the development at once and carry on on a large scale. Thus Terrace is beginning to reap benefits from the increased mining business in British Columbia.

Terrace Church is Prepared for the Conference

A meeting of the official board of Knox United church, Terrace, was held on Thursday evening, April 26. Reports from the various departments of the church activities were most encouraging. Owing to the passing of Mr. Jas. Richmond, late much esteemed chairman of the official board, a chairman for the ensuing year had to be elected, and James McConnell was unanimously chosen for the office.

Business in connection with the forthcoming Presbytery meeting and General Conference was transacted, and a committee appointed for the purpose of securing a lay representative to represent Terrace at the Conference, to be held in St. Andrew's church, Vancouver, May 16, and Miss Stella Brooks was appointed. Rev. Allen intimated that he would be obliged to be absent from Terrace for two Sundays for the purpose of representing Prince Rupert Presbytery on the settlement committee at the forthcoming conference. Rev. R. C. Scott, B. A., of Queen Charlotte Islands, is the other member of this committee from the north, and on this occasion the committee will be called upon to consider the appointment of five ministers for the north, viz., Hazelton, East Prince Rupert, Anyox, Dawson, and Bella Bella. On one Sunday of Mr. Allen's absence A. A. Burnett of Kispiox will fill the pulpit and will give a description of the work presently being carried on in Livingstonia, Central Africa. Mr. Burnett and his wife spent ten years on this celebrated field which was established by the late Dr. Livingstone.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Kenney entertained last Saturday afternoon, the occasion being Marjory's eleventh birthday. The youngsters had a splendid afternoon and at supper time enjoyed an excellent repast.

Alex. Olson was in Prince Rupert. Dan Clacker has returned from Rupert.

Mrs. Smith of Prince Rupert is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Williams.

The Terrace Motors garage will be open for business on Monday. A first class mechanic will be in charge and all work is guaranteed. Three Star Gasoline sold at the Terrace Motors garage and at no advance in price.

Mines and Banks

Angus Beaton of 4th cabin on the Dominion Telegraph line, and an old timer in this district, has been doing some reading during his long vigil the past winter, and while some of his reading, may of necessity, been a little ancient, according to modern ideas of news papers, it was none the less interesting. Angus has always been interested in mining since he has been in this section, and his reading naturally concerns mining to a large extent.

The following is an article he cut from one of his old papers, but at the present time it is as valuable as ever, and the Herald is glad to print it in full:—

"The president of a large national bank in Chicago was under criticism by the presidents of several other banks because of his investments in mines. The man made the following reply to the criticism:

"Throughout the west, ages ago, Almighty God built stronger vaults in His granite banks than we have in ours. He filled His vaults with gold, silver and copper. He gave the prospector knowledge and insight and guided him on his way to the door of the vaults. He had built, the federal government handed him a title patent to all therein. It is not a crime, but a virtue to enter. With drill, blast, pick and spade the prospectors have broken the combination locks and entered. But for him, our notes of issue would be as the for him this government of ours would be bankrupt.

Mines will be producing millions of gold, silver and copper in that future day when national banks are unknown.

"A mine contains a crop already raised, harvested and on deposit for you to check against your pleasure. The wealth gathered from the mines immortalized King Solomon.

Mining has made the United States the richest country in the world.

"Mining is an industry as necessary to the welfare of the country as the raising of crops.

"Show me a country without mines and I will show you people sunk into degradation and poverty; and poverty makes cowards of nations as well as individuals.

"Mining is the second industry the United States.

Mining has transformed mere poor men into millionaires, and raised them into positions of honor and trust, than any other business.

"Mining has scored less than 35 per cent of failures against 95 per cent of failures shown in general merchandising business in the United States.

"Without the products of the mines you won't have neither frying pan, a spoon, a hat-pin or a monetary circulating medium.

"Eliminate the miner and you set civilization back to the dark ages.

"Outside the element of great personal profits, which will accrue to us as bankers, who are able to supply the money to open great mines it behoves us to foster an industry upon which the prosperity of not alone our depositors, but of the entire nation depends."

DISTRIBUTING GARDEN SEEDS

D. D. Munro of the agricultural department with headquarters at Smithers, was in Terrace the first of the week and arranged with the Farmer's Institute to distribute some special seeds he has secured. The object is to select from the gardens and farms where those seeds are sown, a collection of produce to be sent to the New Westminster fair next September. It is the intention to make a grand display of farm produce from the north at the big southern fair. Besides the Terrace district seeds are being distributed in the Hazelton district and in the Bulkley Valley and east. A number of new and hardy apple trees have also been received for distribution in the northern interior.

Ernie Holt returned the first of the week after being on the coast for several months.

Mrs. Hagan of Copper City was one of the week end visitors in Terrace.

William and Jane Donald returned Saturday after an extended visit to Vancouver and Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham, recently of Dorreen, have taken up a home on Park Hill. Mr. Graham is with the Forestry Department.

ions of what would follow the haze-smothered sunset over the Keewaten muskeg. For days, now, the weather had softened above zero temperature a characteristic of James Bay winters, which are milder than those of the forest country to the south, and he prayed for a bright night, as his thoughts were busy with the tragedy of Craig Gilbraith and his own part in the climax of the pitiful history.

The decision, he had made beside the bunk in the Ghost, once he had struck on a feasible plan of procedure, was inevitable to the man who owed his life to the heroism of the stricken Galbraith. But the situation which Guthrie faced as he reached the high barrens of Akimiski catch and hold the veiled light of the dying sun, might easily result, not only in dismissal from the company but in arrest by the authorities. His clear duty to his employers clearly demanded that he report to Cameron the presence of Laughing McDonald at Elkwan. The information that a Hudson Bay factor had concealed from the Government a man suspected of murder would raise a hornets nest at Ottawa. All this Garth Guthrie had seen with clear vision the night before when he shared his plan with Etienne, but as his eyes rested for an instant on the tragic face of his friend, who that day in front of Amiens, had not counted the cost, there was in his face the look of a man who would repay to the last farthing. Ottawa, the company he had served so well, were nothing. There lay Craig Galbraith, sick, hunted by the law he had defied, deserted—Laughing McDonald, whom he had fought for the trade—his friend, and he would see it through. Craig should have his chance slight as it looked. With the woman of the great heart and the skilled hand he was hurrying over the sea ice as fast as five Ungavas could travel. Hold on, Galbraith, V. C. as you held at many a disputed parapet and shell-hole!

Continued Next Week

The Ladies Guild of Knox United church held a sale of work and home cooking in the church hall on Saturday and in spite of the bad weather it was well patronized.

Mrs. Hunter and children returned Thursday after visiting her sister, Mrs. Creelman in Usk.

E. E. Greig of the provincial forestry department, Prince Rupert, spent a few days in town last week and he addressed the school children on preventing forest fires.

A. A. McDonald of Usk was a visitor in town recently.

BY GEORGE MARSH

Etienne listened as if he thought Guthrie had gone suddenly mad. "But you? Where you go? he broke in. Guthrie smiled. "I'm going to take our dogs to Albany."

"To Albany?"

"Yes! It's my duty to report this to Cameron at once."

"De Cree can go."

"No, you'll need his help. I'll pay him well."

"But" Etienne sensed that something lay behind it all, "we tak' dis man to Elkwan an' de police come—den wat? Etienne also had guessed."

"At Albany," said Garth, "I'll tell Cameron that you shot yourself accidentally—bad wound. And I am going to bring Miss Quarrier up the coast tomorrow to nurse you. She knows all about wounds—and I think—she'll come," added Guthrie quickly.

"By gar," and the half-breed gazed at his chief in admiration.

"It's his only chance for life. Here he would die. The place is infested with germs—ought to be burned. You understand? You start as soon as you can. I'm on my way now. I'll be in Elkwan tomorrow night—if she'll come with her medicine kit. And I think she will—for she's a soldier—God bless her!"

After forcing more soup down the throat of the sick man he was given a stiff drink of whisky, bundled in fur, bound with strips of blanket, and with great difficulty carried to the sled. Fortunately for Guthrie's plan the delirium had not taken a violent form, for the enormous strength of Galbraith would have baffled them.

With a grip of the hand Guthrie bid his staunch head-man good-by, and whistling for Shot, started with his tiered team for Albany. Alreary that day the dogs had done sixty miles and the forty miles before them over the rough sea ice, would, if pushed, bring them into Albany, five sore-footed, stiff-legged cripples. So it was not until the sky grayed with dawn that Guthrie drove up to the trade house at Albany, and feeding his tired team, he put them in an empty shack where they might sleep through the morning, undisturbed by the hectoring of the post dogs.

Later, walking in on the Camerons at their breakfast, he told them of the stalking of the schooner of the dead.

"Well, that's the wildest tale I've heard in forty years on this coast," ejaculated the factor, while his wife and children sat with awed faces. "Not a soul alive on the ship?"

"Not a soul alive," repeated Garth.

"Fin, and probably the whisky they carried didn't help any. The boat reeked with it. Poor devils, they must have stayed drunk to ease their misery."

"And the fur, two years' trade, did you see it?"

"No, but Etienne said there was a lot of it on board. Then, somehow, in casing his rifle, he shot himself."

"Shot himself?"

"Yes, in the hip. That's why I'm here." Guthrie took the bit in his teeth as his grey eyes firmly met Cameron's. "I'm going to ask Miss Quarrier to come to Elkwan with her medicine kit. She knows wounds—I'm afraid of blood poisoning."

"But, wherever didn't you put him on the sled and bring him here? She can take care of him better at Albany, and then—"

Guthrie shook his head. "He refused to come, Cameron. He thinks he's going to die, and wanted to be with his wife and children."

"Oh, but how can you ask that girl to go to Elkwan? She's needed here. Swan'll raise a devil of a row—has already, over your seeing her."

In the narrowing eyes of Guthrie lurked a glint which Cameron recognized. He had seen it before in the look of men, indomitable, desperate. It startled him made him wonder—about the affair between Joan Quarrier and the factor of Elkwan.

"Of course we don't want anything to happen to Etienne," said Cameron "but why you don't bring him here is beyond me."

"I've already told you why, Cameron." The gray eyes of the speaker were black as they bored coldly into those of the kindly Scotchman. Ill at ease, Mrs. Cameron went to the kitchen to digest her startling announcement.

"Yes I know they always want their family around, when they're scared. Well, if she'll go, it's her business. It'll raise a rumpus, though, and I hate to have her—hurt."

Guthrie was on his feet, scowling down at the other. "One minute! Let's go slow here! Your my superior, and I had hoped, my friend, but you're on dangerous ground, Cameron. What do you mean by—hurt?"

"There, there, now, my lad! Keep cool," expostulated the older man. "I'm your friend and I'm proud to be. Now you've brought it up, I've got to talk from the shoulder. You don't realize what that skunk Quarrier tattled about you—"

"Oh I know all about that—that sick child who died at Elkwan—Joan was there. Hasn't she told you?"

"Why, of course! But, the rest, here and at Moose—you know them. Swan has made a row because she wasn't sent to the mission, to die."

"What of it?" snapped Guthrie.

"He says you kept her there against her will."

"Nonsense! She couldn't walk a hundred yards without stopping to rest. She refused to come down the coast to the mission—just faded away."

"Mrs. Cameron and I understand, Guthrie. Etienne and Joan told us it's this white-livered missionary who has made the trouble and if Joan goes with you to take care of Etienne, he'll not spare her either—he'll burst with righteous horror—and it'll hurt Joan."

"Will you call your wife?" asked Guthrie, in a tone brittle like the shattering ice, the muscles of his jaw and temples working under the skin.

"Why, yes!" replied the factor.

"Marry! We want to speak to you."

"Mrs. Cameron," said Garth quietly "your husband tells me that it will seriously hurt Joan Quarrier's reputation in missionary circles, if she goes to take care of Etienne's wound."

"I'm afraid it will cause lot of talk here at Moose," regretfully agreed the factor's wife. "You know what they are."

"No I don't know what they are—except this, I know that Mr. Swan must have a foul mind. Of course, he has no head—there's no room under his hat for one."

"He'll surely forbid her to go with you, Major Guthrie."

"Suppose she goes anyway?"

"I don't know what to say."

Guthrie smiled. "Well would it make feel any better about it if I told you that I loved her and have already tried to ask her to marry me—will ask her every day she's at Elkwan?"

The face of the startled and embarrassed Mary Cameron flushed with delight. "Oh, Major Guthrie! I'm so glad—so glad!"

"H—ll! take her up today! I wasn't sure you were serious, my boy, and we think a lot of her," gruffly exclaimed the factor.

Her eyes misted with tears she could not control, the factor's wife grasped the hand of Guthrie in both of hers. "I don't know—she never told me!" she cried. "but I've thought somehow that she thinks a lot of you. I wish you luck!"

So peace was made at Cameron's

CHAPTER XII

Garth found Joan Quarrier at the Mission school. Entering the building he stood for a space in the doorway and watched her read to a group of Cree orphans.

As she looked up aware, of his presence, he said, "It is not February, but I have returned."

"Something is the matter," she said apprehensively. "Something has happened at Elkwan?"

"Etienne has shot himself."

"But you why are you here? Why did you come?"

"For you."

"For me—to go to Elkwan?" Dazed at the idea her hand sought her forehead, while the chattering children crowded curiously around them.

"He wants you there may be infection—and you know wounds—have every, thing in your kit, bandages, stimulants, antiseptics."

"Let me put on my coat and we'll talk outside," she said.

So they went to the clearing.

"I know well what I'm asking," he said. "I mean a day on the sled—discomfort, for you. But he is my friend, and it may mean his life—your coming."

Her troubled eyes turned to his. "I want to go—the trip is nothing. It's going, alone, with you—it means leaving the mission. I suppose."

"Of course, Swan will make a fuss. To him it will look immoral—your going—to save a man's life," he said savagely, "but for you—a army nurse with a life at stake," he pleaded, "is there any choice?"

She smiled wistfully as she gazed over the frozen river.

"I've got to go. It's in my blood—to help them—the wounded."

His heart leaped at the words, "To help the strong—to help me—is that in your blood, too, Joan Quarrier?" he asked passionately.

She shivered and avoided his eyes as a wave of color swept up to her dark hair. "The strong need no help," she parried.

Again in control of himself, the elated Guthrie smothered his own emotion in the thought of his stricken friend at Elkwan, for whom he had lied to the man he respected and the girl he loved. And he wondered what she would say to him when she learned of the deception. That she would have come as readily, had he told the truth, he had no doubt, but the secret of Galbraith's presence at Elkwan was a trust, sacred, inviolate. He had told Cameron that the crew of the Ghost had died to a man. At Albany, Laughing McDonald was a dead man. On the way up the coast Joan Quarrier should learn the truth.

"Oh, ye of little faith!" Guthrie sadly shook his head, "What must I do to convince you?"

The girl made no answer. Looking up, Garth saw, bundled in fur cap and coat much too large for him a short figure blocking their path.

"You are not going on this mad journey?" the shrill voice of Swan demanded. "Do you hold your reputation so cheaply?"

"You have heard?"

"Yes! Mrs. Cameron told me what this man came for."

"You're late, Swan, she has promised to go," said Garth quietly. Ignoring Guthrie, the little man gravely warned:

"You realize, Miss Quarrier, if you go, you cannot return to the mission?"

"Yes! Mr. Swan. Before I became a mission teacher, and my moral welfare the object of your solicitude, I lived for three years with wounded men. A man's life is at stake. It is worth more than my reputation."

To Garth she said abruptly: "Come for me when you are ready. I'll go and pack my kit."

"Bravo. Healer of Wounds! That was spoken like a soldier," and walking squarely at the mortified missionary, dazed at the flouting of his authority, who stepped into the soft snow to avoid the threatened collision, the elated Guthrie hurried to the trade-house.

"She'll go, she'll go," he announced to the waiting factor.

"Good! You'll take good care of her I know. I wish you the best of luck my boy. She's a rare one—is Joan."

"Swan told her she couldn't return to the mission."

"A-ah!" contemptuously grunted the other. "We'll send over and get her belongings. She'll spend the rest of the of the winter with us. But she's much too valuable to the Swans for them to stick to their high horse. They'll be over trying to weedle her into coming back."

"But I hope she won't."

"We'll see to that. Why they didn't know how to feed a husky pup, and in charge of twenty children. Think of it Joan turned to and taught 'em something scientific, you know. Oh, they'll be back after her."

Guthrie grinned broadly as he said: "So will I."

"Well, I hope you get her."

Behind the slab counter Garth curled up on a bundle of blankets for a few hours sleep, until his dogs were fit to take the ninety mile run north to had died on the Ghost.

At noon he drove his refreshed team to the mission where Joan, standing beside her duffle bags, waited in the snow.

With the light load of two passengers, the big runner sled—it's wooden shoes shod with ice, which slips over a hard surface with less friction than steel and can be renewed at will, would be sport for five powerful dogs. Driving, as he would, to bring skill and medicine to the succore of the guest at Elkwan, Garth hoped to reach the post before dawn, but much depended on the light. A thick night would slow the dogs to a walk while crossing the months of big rivers, where tide cracks opened and closed over night and the trail led through hummocks and ridges, bad going by day—at night heartbreaking to driver and dogs.

"You're not sorry—haven't regretted promising to come?" he asked as he wrapped her in robes and stowed her bags.

She shook her head. "Not in the least, Mr. Exile. I'm reconciled now to the loss of the last shred of my reputation. It was a wild scene—in the house. They even prayed for me when they realized threats were futile."

"Prayed for you—you, bound on an errand of mercy? In the name of all the saints, they'd let an innocent man die for want of proper care, because of my reputation? I must be a monster to them."

She laughed. "Yes I can truthfully say that after what my brother told them, they think you are a terrible person."

"Do you?" he countered leaning over the sled.

"Well—" her dark eyes flashed up into his. "Not exactly terrible, rather—what shall I say?—stubborn."

"Marche Castror."

And the huskies with Shot ahead, galloped to the trade-house. There the Camerons were waiting for the girl who had, also, burned her bridges. Shortly down the cliff trail and over the river-ice raced the team, carrying hope for Craig Galbraith, deep in delirium at Elkwan, ninety white miles away.

As they left the river and turned up the coast Guthrie's anxious eyes circled the gray horizon for indication.

Why Firestone Tires Give You Most Miles Per Dollar

The greatest enemy to tire life is not the harsh grind of city streets or rough roads but heat which is created inside the tire by internal friction. Heat not only weakens the fabric, but also softens the rubber causing blowouts and tire failures.

The exclusive Firestone Gum-Dipping process prevents internal heat. Every fibre of every cord is insulated and impregnated with rubber, which prevents internal friction and at the same time binds the cords together by a stronger union of rubber, thus giving greater strength and flexibility to the tire.

Take advantage of the Gum-Dipping process to lower your tire costs this year. Your local Firestone Dealer not only supplies you with these better tires that cost no more, but also gives the better service that enables you to benefit from every extra mile built in at the factory.
